Dear Housing Advocate:

Thank you for your involvement in the City's review of the Housing Policy. We have a revised draft that we would like to invite you to review. As always, the Council genuinely invites your suggestions or input, including feedback on significant housing issues that may or may not be specifically included in the document.

The goal of Salt Lake City's Housing Policy is to enhance, maintain and sustain a livable community that includes a vibrant downtown and other business areas integrated with surrounding neighborhoods that offer a wide range of housing choices for all income levels. The Housing Policy is designed to guide the City's effort to develop new housing opportunities while preserving existing housing stock, with the central purpose of increasing the vitality and livability of the City.
